App Encryption Documentation

Specify your use of encryption in Xcode by adding the App Uses Non-Exempt Encryption key to your app's Info.plist file with a Boolean value that indicates whether your app uses encryption. Learn More

You're required to provide documentation if your app contains any of the following:

- Encryption algorithms that are proprietary or not accepted as standard by international standard bodies (IEEE, IETF, ITU, etc.)
- Standard encryption algorithms instead of, or in addition to, using or accessing the encryption within Apple's operating system

You can provide your documentation before you submit a build.

App Store Regulations & Permits

Digital Services Act

Under the Digital Services Act, you must provide and verify information regarding your account. If you don't, there may be payment delays or your content may be removed from sale in certain countries or regions. Learn More

Set Up

Vietnam Game License

If your game is available on the App Store in Vietnam, you can add a game license as required by Vietnamese regulators. Learn More

Add

Regulated Medical Devices

If your app is in the Medical or Health and Fitness categories, or if you selected “frequent” for “Medical or Treatment Information” in the App Store Connect age rating questionnaire, you need to declare whether it functions as a regulated medical device to keep distributing on the App Store in certain regions. Learn More
